The old town of Alviano is a maze of cobblestones alleys and small squares, sitting behind its medieval walls, with unexpected openings, giving enchanting glimpses of the lake and the valley below. In the heart of the historic centre in the oldest and most charming part of the town, just a few steps from the castle, there is a small apartment (50 sq.m.) located on the ground floor, with two separate entrances.

The front door leads onto the living room, which in turn leads on to a dining room with kitchenette and fireplace. There is a double bedroom with a built-in wardrobe and a bathroom. The back door leads onto the property's small outdoor space. Completing this lovely apartment is a useful storage room (16 sq.m.).
